For many years, UNC Kenan-Flagler has been recognized worldwide for our outstanding and comprehensive leadership opportunities.

Corporate recruiters value UNC Kenan-Flagler graduates for their ability to hit the ground running and make a meaningful impact early in their careers. Talented faculty create the top programs and world-renowned research.

We want to continue to attract exceptional students from throughout North Carolina and the world. By supporting leadership at UNC Kenan-Flagler, you assure that all students have access to specialized experiential learning and meaningful experiences through study abroad and internships. You can help by funding scholarships and fellowships for these students based on either merit or need.

Our faculty is comprised of world-class teachers and researchers. Your support will help us attract and, most importantly, retain the upcoming generation of great faculty who will carry on the great traditions of Dick Levin, Rollie Tillman, Jack Behrman and so many others.

Support leadership across all programs during the Campaign for Carolina to ensure UNC Kenan-Flagler attracts the best students and hires the very best faculty. Together we will seek and shape leaders of the future.

UNC Kenan-Flagler has a long tradition of producing strong and effective leaders. As the world changes, we need to prepare students to become the agile, collaborative and principled professionals they need to be.

- Doug Shackelford, Dean